Second Message.

"Government Must Protect All

Declares Causes of Unrest Are Not Deep-Seated.

Wants Changes to Conform
With Changed Conditions.

Unable To Appear In Person

(By Associated Press.)

Washington, December 2. — General recommendations on legislation to combat the cost of living, labor unrest, radicalism and a readjustment of the nation to a peace time basis were the features of President Wilson's annual message to Congress, delivered today.

The peace treaty, the President told Congress, will be discussed in a separate message later, as will the railroad question.

For the second time only since the President established the practice of addressing Congress in person, his message was read by the clerks.

The President's principal recommendations were:

Establishment of a budget system for the national finances;

Reorganization of the taxation system, with simplification of the income and excess profits;

Readjustment of the tariff system, if necessary, to meet changed world conditions and make the system conform with the fact that the United States is "the greatest capitalist in the world;"

Recognition and relief for veteran soldiers of the world war, particularly in the way of government farms as proposed by Secretary Lane;

Proper measures to foster the dyestuffs industry built up during the war to keep the United States independent of foreign supply;

An enlarged program for rural development, in recognition of the farmers' part in the war;

Measures which "will remove the cause of political restlessness in our body politic."

NOT DEEP SEATED.

At this point, the President made his most extensive reference to the peace treaty, by saying the causes for the unrest "are superficial, rather than deep-seated," and that they "arise from, or are connected with, the failure of the part of our government to arrive speedily at a just and permanent peace, permitting return to normal conditions from the transference of radical theories from seething European centers, pending such delay from heartless profiteering resulting from the increase of the cost of living, and lastly from the machinations of passionate and malevolent agitators. With the return to normal conditions, this unrest will rapidly disappear."

MUST STOP RADICALS.

The President renewed his recommendations for legislation to deal effectively with "those persons who, by violent methods, would abrogate our time tested institutions."

GIANT HEROES OF THE WAR ARE DEMOBILIZED IN SIAM

Troop of elephants disembarking.

Elephants, known as engines of great strength in heavy hauling and lifting, were used to great advantage by the British forces during the war. They pulled cannon and supplies through roads impassable to motor trucks and horses. These big brutes were shipped from East Africa and Siam to France. Recently those who survived the war were shipped back home and demobilized just as the horses and dogs and other mute heroes have been.

Several recommendations, some renewals of previous ones, were made by the President to bring down the cost of living.

Among them were extension of the food control law to peace times for the emergency;

Regulations for transportation of foods in inter-state commerce; a cold storage law modeled after the law in New Jersey; a law requiring marks to show the length of time foods are kept in storage, and a law to secure "competitive selling and prevent unconscionable profits" by federal license of corporations selling food in inter-state commerce.

A long portion of the message was devoted to discussion of the condition and rights of labor.

"A definite program to bring about an improvement in the conditions of labor," and "bring about a genuine democratization of industry," was recommended.

"The only way to keep men from agitating against grievances is to remove the grievances," said the President's message. At another point it declared "the seed of revolution is repression."

"The establishment of the principles regarding labor, laid down in the covenant of the league of nations," said the message, "offers us the way to industrial peace and conciliation. No other road lies open to us."

"Governments must recognize the right of men to bargain collectively for humane objects. Labor must no longer be treated as a commodity."

DEFINES RIGHTS.

"The right of individuals to strike is inviolate," continued the message, "and ought not to be interfered with by any process of government; but there is a predominant right, and that is the right of the government to protect all of its people and to assert its power and majesty against the challenge of any class."

The President was referring to the government's recent injunction against the coal strike.

The message closed with a pointed reference to radicalism and "red" doctrines and referred to "Russia today, with its blood and terror, as a painful object lesson of the power of minorities."

BLOW AT MINORITY

"There are those in this country," said the message, "who threaten direct action to force their will upon a majority. It makes little difference what minority it is; whether capital or labor, or any other class; no sort of privilege will ever be permitted to dominate this country.

Orderly processes, the message declared, were the only ones by which relief and reform could be obtained. "Those who would propose any other method of reform are enemies of this country," the message said. "Let those beware who take the shorter road of disorder and revolution."

Chicago, December 2. — Restrictions on use of coal were extended throughout the United States today under an order of the Federal Fuel Administrator.

In Wyoming labor trouble was decreasing the small amount of coal being mined.

Theaters and motion picture shows face complete shutdowns. Churches and schools were included in that category but efforts are being made to postpone schools as long as possible.

Factories manufacturing shoes, iron, steel and clothing and numerous non-essentials will have their production curtailed under the sweeping government order.

Despite low temperatures over the west little actual suffering was reported. In Kansas and Nebraska several towns had been without fuel, however. The situation was more serious in Indiana where state institutions and public utilities are without fuel.

Nights Would Toss and Roll—Almost Jump Out of Bed.

"I was in such a nervous rundown condition the slightest noise around the house when I would come home from playing the piano at the Alhambra theatre, would make me irritable and nights I simply couldn't sleep good. Would start up at the slightest noise out of my sleep and then for hours would lie awake. I never felt so miserable and weak in my life. My nerves were a wreck and added to this my appetite was poor.

"Then I bought a bottle of Earle's Hypo-Cod at the drug store and I now have a splendid appetite. Eat anything I want and my nerves are so good and strong I sleep good all night. I feel so rested and good mornings work is a pleasure and though I have been in that condition for over a year it only took Earle's Hypo-Cod a few days to make me a well, strong and happy woman again," continued Mrs. Cora Hull, pianist at the Alhambra Theatre, Mt. Vernon Avenue.

Again The Opportunity

The Congress of the nation and the General Assembly of the state convened on Monday morning.

Needless to say each one of these legislative bodies faces the most tremendous tasks in the history of the nation and state.

The opportunity for real service was never greater than now. Whether these two representative bodies of law-makers rise to the occasion, furnish the needed relief and provide a remedy for present pressing ills, is entirely up to the members.

Both legislative bodies, less than a year ago, faced the same problems and the same opportunities that they are facing now.

The defeat of the proposed "classification" amendment to the Ohio constitution has made the taxation problem more acute and has compelled the legislature to face conditions squarely. Taxation is the big state question and cannot be postponed any longer.

Congress has such a multiplicity of gigantic tasks to face that any attempt at enumeration would be futile.

If politics is forgotten, if the members of the Senate and House have heard from the folks at home, during their short vacation, realize that people care nothing at all for politics but demand action on vital problems, some of the long neglected public business will receive attention.

If ambition and selfishness and party politics are again made the chief aim of the legislators we may expect another session with nothing done and, if possible, more chaotic conditions in the financial, commercial and social life of the nation.

Buy Christmas Seals

The Christmas season this year should be marked by sensible and generous observance. There is abundant prosperity in America and there is great need for a revival of the real Christmas spirit which is typified in generous giving.

After all the giving of gifts is a symbol only of the great good will we hold for our relatives and friends and if the gifts we distribute harmonize with our real feeling there is every reason, this year, why we should be generous in our gifts to others. Surely the American people, this year, should have a tremendous amount of good will for others.

Give, and give generously, and don't forget to put the Red Cross Seal on every package and on every letter of good cheer that is mailed.

Buy the Red Cross Seals liberally and use them prodigally. The pennies realized from the seal sales make the mighty total which is the greatest defense of human beings against disease and suffering.

Don't allow a package or a letter to reach your loved ones or friends at Christmas time unsealed with the Red Cross seal.

The Fast Way

As travel via the air continues to make rapid development we are beginning to realize that, in the very near future, great ships, for carrying commerce and passengers above the earth and the seas, will soon be competing, for patronage, with the land transportation methods and the great ocean vessels. It is interesting to note that many passengers, who have traveled by the airplane or dirigible route, assert that it is a monotonous way to travel when the thrills of novelty and danger pass.

Consequently these experienced travelers, most of them, tell us that the great beauties of land and sea travel will continue to hold the big majority of the tourists in the future.

Experience has been the reverse. It teaches that people, Americans especially, prefer the most rapid method of transportation regardless of the beauty of the trip. Even with the pleasure tourist's journey with a definite destination in view, strange to say, the charm of the scenery enroute is a secondary matter entirely.

The thousands to whom beauty of travel appealed could never see the smoky, hot, dusty railroad trains taking the place of the palatial steamboats which traveled the Ohio, the Mississippi, the Hudson and the other navigable rivers. No, it was asserted then, the romance and charm of the steamboat days would never be forsaken by the traveling public.

But a short time proved that such a belief was groundless. The rivers, beautiful beyond description, upon which in magnificent boats, travel was a joy, beyond description, are deserted. The great passenger packets are no more—the romance is a memory. Hurrying humanity rushes by with scarcely a thought even to the glories, the ease and pleasures that once existed.

POETRY FOR TODAY

HIS SONG OF THE LIGHT

For all o' the troubles we're apt to tell,
The life we're a-livin' goes to'able well;
The sun gits up when it's time to rise
An' says "Good Mornin'" all 'round the skies!
Jes' in the same old, faithful way
He tells the worl' that it's break o' day;
An' I say, whilst I'm glimpsin' a sky o' blue;
"It's sure 'Good Mornin',' an'—same to you!

I've been lost, somewhere, on the roads o' Night,
But they lead straight on to the Lands o' Light;
The Light that it's worth yer while to win,
An' I open home-winders an' let it in.
An' it brings sich joy to the ol' home-place,
Kissin' a child's an' a mother's face,
I sure fergit that the dark must be,
With one Good Mornin' God's made fer me.

Troubles an' trials the road along,
But I'm up, an' a-singin' the Mornin' song.
Up, an' away with the Mornin' Sun,
An' "Good-by, Home, till the day's work's done!"
An' then—like the bird, or the bee to the comb,
To the nest an' the Rest that's a-waitin' at Home;
An' there, to the troubles an' trials, good-night,
Till the Sun says "Good Mornin'" an' let's down the Light."

RANDOM NOTES

SOCIAL : PERSONAL MENTION : CLUBS

The marriage of Miss Helen Taylor Harper, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Harper, and Mr. Vivian E. Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Crawford, of Plain City, was solemnized at high noon Tuesday December the second, with only the immediate families witnessing the impressive ring service of the Episcopal church, Rev. Frederick Fischer, Episcopal rector of London officiating.

The ancestral home of the bride, with its spacious high ceilinged rooms of an earlier era, made charming setting and the nuptial vows were pledged in the same living room, where the bride's father and mother had exchanged their vows.

It was a wedding of the utmost simplicity, marked by quiet beauty of arrangement. As the hands of the clock were approaching the appointed hour, Miss Ada Woodward sang with exquisite sweetness "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms" and "Mendelssohn's Spring Song," Mrs. Lulu H. Robinson accompanying.

As the joyous notes of the Spring Song quivered into silence, Miss Frederica Crawford, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. Howard S. Harper, only brother of the bride—in the capacity of maid and best man—preceded the bride and bridegroom to the improvised altar, sentinelled on either side by tall white and gold wicker floor vases filled with white and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride, fair and lovely, was wearing a Fortier gown—a Bergdore Goodwin model—of beige duvetyn heavily corded in lighter tone of beige Satin Francaise, with deep square neck, filled with flesh georgette and Point Venise lace—corsetage bouquet of Ward roses and blue forget-me-nots. She wore the groom's gift a bar pin of diamonds set in platinum and carried a white prayer book. Her costume was completed for going away with Hudson seal coat, beaver trimmed and a small hat of brown velvet and beaver.

The bridesmaid a handsome girl of the same pure blonde type as the bride was wearing brown velvet with Pointe lace collar—nosegay of Ward roses.

Mrs. Harper wore a gown of French blue crepe, heavily beaded. Mrs. Crawford, mother, of the bridegroom, was becomingly gowned in navy blue satin charmeuse.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, the same yellow roses which were used in the decorations of the library, artistically combined with maiden's hair fern in baskets for the centers of the tables.

Mrs. Ione Bryant did the excellent catering and had also catered at the wedding of the bride's parents.

The Buck florists had in charge the effective decorations.

Amid a shower of good wishes the young couple left soon after the dinner and were driven by Mr. Howard Harper to Columbus where they took the New York Central train for Cleveland and a short trip. Their future home will be made in Akron, where Mr. Crawford is manager of one department in the pneumatic tire division of the Goodrich Rubber Co.

The departure of the bride, whose social graces are charmingly grafted upon a sweet, sunshiny nature, is greatly regretted in her home town and especially in her immediate circle where she has been unusually feted. She is a graduate of the Columbus School for Girls and later attended the Ohio Wesleyan University.

The bridegroom will be well remembered in College circles as one of Miami University's foremost athletic stars on the gridiron. He was always popular and active in college fraternity circles, a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

In 1916, while a senior at Miami University, Mr. Crawford was one of a number of young college men who volunteered for service in France with Beeman Dawes, of Marietta. While in France he volunteered for service with the French. When his term of enlistment expired, returning to America he at once volunteered in the U. S. Aviation service, this nation at that time having entered the war.

The same sterling qualities which led to achievement in his college life have won for Mr. Crawford rapid promotion in the business with which he has been connected in the short time since his release from service.

Guests in attendance from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Crawford and daughters Misses Frederica and Eleanore, Plain City; Mr. Kenneth Crawford, a brother of Toledo; Mrs. Howard Martin, of Woodstock, an aunt of the groom; Dr. and Mrs. James Slocum, of Cincinnati; Dr. and Mrs. Robert Dunlap, Miss Christine Kimball, of Columbus; Mr. Vayle Coster, of Akron; Miss Peggy Henderson, New Port, Ky.; Mr. James W. Ballard of New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn M. Pine entertained Sunday with an elaborate dinner, characterized by lovely appointments in honor of their tenth wedding anniversary.

Crysanthemums and bright hued Jerusalem cherries were used in decorations.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burgett, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Blackmer, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wikle.

The Daughters of the American Revolution enjoyed a charming Christmas program at the December meeting Monday afternoon with the hostesses assigned for this month, Mesdames Harper, Fullerton, DeWees, Duran, Haynes, Greiner, Hadley, Harlow, Miss DeWees, Miss Hays, Miss Hegler.

The Federated Club room, softly aglow with candle light, was delightfully Christmasy, with wreaths of Christmas greens, scarlet poinsettias and scarlet candles in radiant decoration.

Adding a pretty touch of Colonial days, tapers twinkled in brass sconce on the wall, and blazed brilliantly in a seven-branch candlestick on the piano and tall single sticks on the Regent's table.

Half a hundred Daughters enjoyed the suggestion of Yuletide cheer together with the little Christmas program and attendant social features.

Mrs. Harriet F. Woodward, Regent, conducted a brief opening business session.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ballard Robinson read from the monthly Daughters' magazine the letter of Mrs. Guernsey, president general, who has returned from a trip to France, made specially to oversee the reconstruction work of Tifloly, the French city which is being rebuilt by the Daughters of the American Revolution. She wrote of having visited all the devastated country and that she had placed the D. A. R. funds in the hands of the Urgent Need Society appointed by France for this work in which the Daughters are engaging.

In her letter Mrs. Guernsey spoke of visiting the wife of the engineer who had found John Paul Jones' body and had herself assisted in the discovery and exhuming of his body.

Mrs. Carrie Stewart Fullerton acting hostess chairman, had charge of the program and all arrangements and the success of the Christmas meeting was largely due to her planning.

Although not a Daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, in gracious response to the chapter's request, read Grace Richmond's story, "Xmas Day in the Evening," a happy little Christmas story, concluding with a lesson of goodwill. Mrs. Carpenter had carefully culled the heart of the story and gave it with the utmost charming and expressive style.

Mrs. Lona G. Hughey sang the Christmas solo, "Holy Night," most beautifully, her high soprano wonderfully sweet and clear.

The refreshments were happily suggestive of the season, real Christmas plum pudding, served with coffee.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kinlead Simmons, of Greenfield, was an out of town chapter member present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sturgeon of Millwood entertained as their dinner guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Buchanan Little daughter Jean Todd Mrs. C. A. Buchanan of Marietta, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Wain, Mr. Kenneth Wain and Miss Helen Connor.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dawson pleasantly entertained at a turkey dinner, Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. John Gregg and daughter Hattie and little grandson, Frank, of near Bainbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Garrison and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cook and family, Mr. and Mrs. Abe Andrews of New Holland.

The marriage of Mr. Alton E. Smalley and Mrs. Lena Lahue was solemnized on November 29 at Covington, Ky. The ceremony was performed by Rev. N. H. Carlisle of the Baptist Church. The couple have the best wishes of their friends.

Mrs. George Fabb entertained an informal three table Bridge Tuesday afternoon.

The pleasurable afternoon was completed by the serving of a tempting luncheon.

"Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Esther Margaret Lloyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Lloyd, to Mr. Charles B. Upp, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Upp, Greenfield, Mr. Upp was graduated last June from Ohio State and is with the General Electric Company at Ft. Wayne."—Ohio State Journal.

The Art Department presents Tuesday night's program at the Browning Club.

The special feature will be a talk on "The Palace of Versailles" by Mr. O. K. Probasco.

Seventeen girls of the Queen Esther Circle of the Grace A. E. Church entertained with a jolly little indoor picnic, in the church basement, Monday evening.

Each girl contributed a delicacy to the bounteous spread.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morris, residing west of this city, are announcing the birth of a son, Sunday evening.

CONFERENCE OF THE RED CROSS

An all-day conference of the Fayette County Red Cross chapter at the Red Cross Federated club rooms on Tuesday virtually completed plans for carrying on the Christmas Seal campaign, which will open in full blast Wednesday morning and continues until December 10th.

At noon a sumptuous basket dinner was served around a table attractively decorated and arranged to accommodate a large number of citizens, composed of the officers of the Red Cross chapter, speakers for the occasion, organizers, high school boys who led the drive in the city schools, and many interested persons, enjoyed the good things to eat prepared by the women of the Red Cross.

Speeches and toasts followed and continued during the afternoon. Prominent leaders in the Lake Division of the Red Cross led in the discussion in the afternoon program.

HAD MANY HIDES IN THE BELFRY

Lewis Dunkle, janitor of the central school at White Oak was fined $150.00 and costs in Judge T. N. Craig's court, Monday, for having in his possession 37 muskrat pelts.

Deputy Fish and Game Warden Frank Hard, assisted by Deputies Daugherty and Icenhower, made a search of the White Oak school building and found the 37 hides secreted in the belfry.

When arraigned in court Dunkle pled guilty and was fined.

The hides were confiscated by the Deputy and will be forwarded to State Headquarters of the Fish and Game Department.

CELEBRATION FOR FOOTBALL PLAYERS

Monday afternoon the largest football celebration ever taking place in Washington High School was held in the High School auditorium. The celebration came as a result of the team finishing the season on last Thursday without a defeat.

Members of the football squad, two full teams, were seated on the stage with Coach Moorehead.

Speeches were made by the Coach, each member of the team, Principal O. K. Probasco, Superintendent McClain, Miss Clara Thurston and several girls of the High School.

Two former captains of the football teams were present and took part in the celebration. Arthur Lewis, leader of the '17 squad and Robert Reardon, captain of last year's team made short addresses.

The celebration was marked by a snake dance in which both the boys and the girls joined.

An indication of the enthusiasm of the school for the approaching basketball season was seen when Herbert Rief, who will lead the quintet made a few remarks and called on those to stand up who were expecting to try for the team. Almost half the boys in the school came to their feet.

Tuesday night at the Cherry Hotel the football squad will be banqueted by Mr. Ed Weaver, a devoted follower of the gridiron, and whose son, Walter played the position of fullback.

What Pasteurized Milk Is

Pasteurization is only another way of saying sterilization. Pasteurized milk is sterilized milk, nothing else. There is nothing added to the milk in the process, and nothing taken from—except the germs.

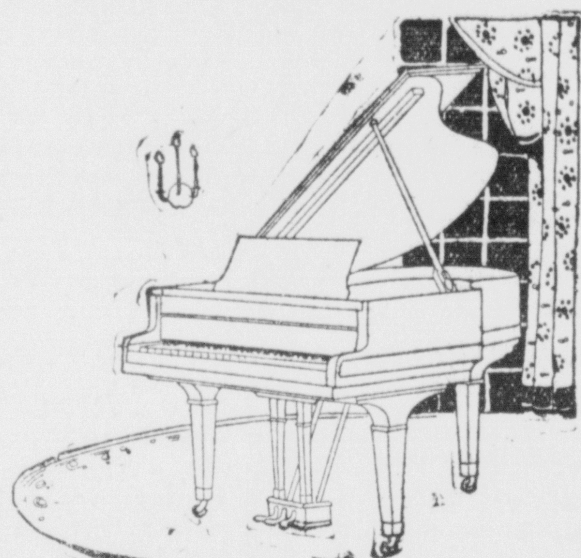

Properly pasteurized milk is pure; it is safe even for the most delicate infant or invalid.

Pasteurized milk differs from "aerated" milk in that vital respect of sterilization. Aeration does not affect the bacteria present in all unpasteurized milk; sterilization, or pasteurization does destroy the bacteria, absolutely.

Pasteurization does not impair the quality of the milk in the least—but it does make it absolutely safe.

REPRESENTS SELF AS A SCHOOL BOY

According to a report coming from a resident in the east side of the city the so called "school boys" were at work again, Monday, in an effort to secure subscriptions for magazines.

An unknown young man who claimed to be a member of the local high school and who stated that he had been "let off" from his studies in order to canvass the city, stopped at several homes and asked for subscriptions to a magazine. He met with little success.

The police were notified of the canvasser and went in search of him. They succeeded in rounding up a man and a woman who were doing the same work but who were able to prove themselves sincere. The young man was not caught.

The high school authorities declare that the young man had no connection with the school and they knew nothing of the person.

Only a few weeks ago a case almost identical came under the observation of the police.

Citizens are warned to watch all suspicious characters engaged in such work and report them at once to police headquarters.

GROUND HOG DAY FOR BIG BANQUET

At a meeting of the Fayette County Fish and Game Protective Association Monday night at the court house it was decided to hold the annual Fish and Game banquet on Ground Hog day, in February.

The secretary's report showed a gain in membership during the year from 589 to 1168.

An order was given to purchase the prizes to be awarded the winners of the 1919 fishing contest. Winners have not yet been announced.

Although subject to many expenses during the year the association is in better standing financially than ever before. More than $600 is invested in liberty bonds.

The next meeting of the association will be held on the first Monday in January.

MARIETTA REAL ESTATE DEALER LAUDS TRUTONA

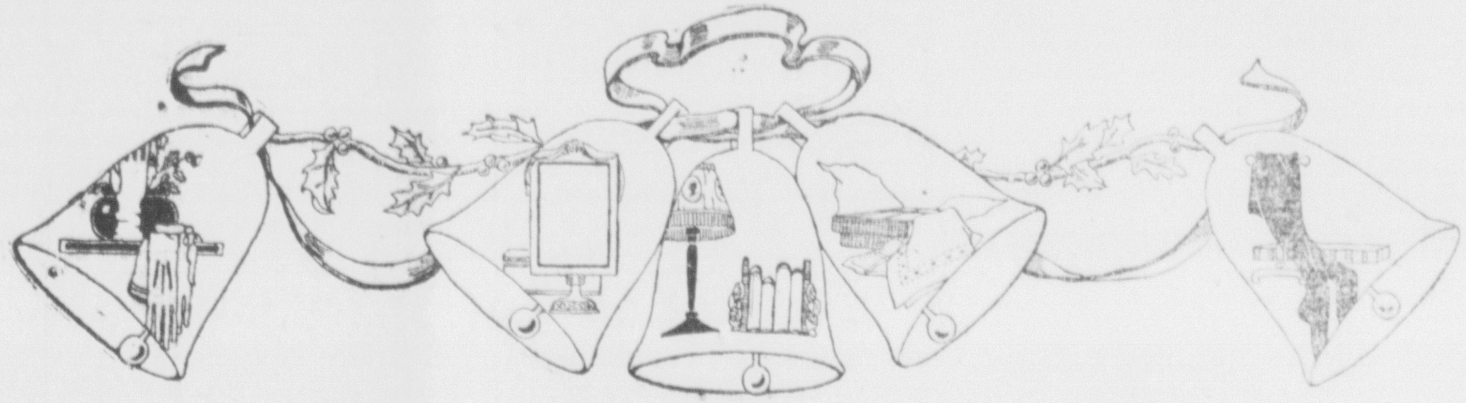

"I Simply Feel Like A New Man Since Taking It," Mr. Neese Declares.

Marietta, Ohio Dec. 1.—"I simply feel like a new man—just years younger, since I have taken Trutona and 18. positive I'll live many years longer now because of the benefits that this tonic has given me," S. H. Neese, 79 years old, a well known Marietta real estate agent who lives at 814 Front street said a few days ago.

"I'm a veteran of the Civil War," Mr. Neese continued, "and it was while in the service that I first began to have trouble with my liver and kidneys. I've suffered from this trouble more or less ever since. I suffered terrible pains in my back and sides. Pains also came into my forehead and into the back of my neck. My appetite was very poor and the food that I ate didn't digest properly. I often experienced spells of dizziness. I was usually constipated, too, having to take laxatives most all the time."

"Well sir, since taking Trutona I'm convinced that I'll live past 90 year mark. I want all my friends to know what this medicine has done for me. The pains in my back and head have all left me now and my sight is much clearer than before. My kidneys don't give me the trouble they did before I took Trutona. I simply can't get enough to eat nowadays and I sleep much better too. I am not constipated anymore. Trutona has made a different man of me and I can truthfully say that it is the best medicine that I have ever taken in my life. I want the people in Marietta and elsewhere to know what Trutona has done for me."

Trutona is now being introduced and explained in Washington C. H. at Frank Christopher's.
